Organisation Profile | Hope, Dignity, Love

About the organisation

Obroni Akunafo Kuo (OAK) is a non-profit organisation registered in Ghana (registration number CG024292019; TIN C0021813361). It was founded in 2016 and is headquartered in Mim, Ahafo Region. The organisation’s motto is "Obaa Kunani - Awurade Ne Me Boafo" and its tagline is Hope, Dignity, Love.

Mission

To restore dignity, hope and sustainable livelihoods to widows, orphans and the aged in Ghana through compassionate care, education, healthcare support and empowerment.

Vision

A Ghana where every widow is empowered, every orphan is educated and loved, and every aged person lives in dignity, security and respect.

Programmes

Food Support and Relief: monthly food parcels and emergency relief for widows, orphans, persons with disabilities and the aged.
Education Sponsorship: school fees, uniforms, books and mentoring for children from vulnerable households.
Health and Wellbeing: health access and support for beneficiaries.
Widow Empowerment and Skills: livelihood and practical skills initiatives.

Reach

Approximately 800-1,000 beneficiaries are supported, including more than 200 persons with disabilities, across the Ahafo Region and beyond.

Governance

A Board of Trustees of 5-7 members sets organisational policy. An Executive Council provides day-to-day leadership through the Chairperson, Vice Chairperson, Secretary, Treasurer, Organizer and Programmes Coordinator. The General Assembly comprises all registered members. The organisation maintains a designated bank account requiring two authorised signatories and conducts an independent financial audit annually.
